“Bisogna avere il caos dentro di sé, per generare una stella danzante”

(F. Nietzsche)

La continuità nella diversità. L'antico e il post-moderno. Il bello da guardare con gli occhi, il moderno da cogliere con la mente. Il figurativo, l'oggetto nella sua forma in sé, e il concettuale di infiniti rimandi nella mente e nell'inconscio. Una sorta di dialogo circolare tra l'oggetto, gli occhi e la nostra mente. Vari strati di significato, uno sopra l'altro, in cui l'oggetto ci dà delle sensazioni e noi quasi interroghiamo l'oggetto per farci dire da esso ciò che desideriamo, ciò che siamo. Nessun distacco tra noi e l'oggetto, ma una vicinanza e una contiguità di linguaggi diversi. La produzione classica, con le sue forme compiute ci percuote la pupilla, la produzione post-moderna di design, ci percuote la mente. Entrambe l'anima. E se mettessimo insieme visione e mente? Il classico che si intreccia col moderno? Ma questa non è più semplice produzione di oggetti, ma arte. “Bisogna avere il caos dentro di sé, per generare una stella danzante”. (F. Nietzsche). Caos come vita, come magma vulcanico che esplose in forme di luce da meraviglia. Vulcano, dio del fuoco che dal nulla creava forme divine. E chi poteva sposare colui il quale dal nulla crea il bello se non Venere, la dea più bella dell'Olimpo? Creatività, caos, continuità, passato-presente-futuro, antico, moderno, post-moderno. Sembrano tutti conflitti, ma non lo sono. È il Tutto che trova la sua Unità. Il co-esistere, l'esistere insieme, di stile classico e moderno. Ecco la vera sintesi, quella che esce dagli schemi, dalle gabbie mentali, dall'incasellare tutto entro rigidi schemi che (altri) hanno deciso per noi.

I cristalli, con i loro giochi di luce, brillano come la vita che è brillantezza e luce. Evocano, nella loro diversità di stile, atmosfere passate e future. Quelle veneziane, di un silenzio rotto solo dall'infrangersi delle onde del mare in cui il tempo sembra essersi fermato, a quelle futuriste della linea moderna connotata da ritmo, velocità, cambiamento. E quasi come in quel quadro di René Magritte (La Condición humana) in cui egli disegna sulla tela una finestra che dà sul cortile, dal palazzo di vetro ci affacciamo sugli antichi canali veneziani. Non più il bello, ma il sublime.

Continuity in diversity. Ancient and post-modern. Beauty to admire with our eyes and modernity to grasp in our mind. Figurative, the form of an item in itself and its conceptual references in our mind and unconscious. A sort of loop dialogue passing from the item, to the eyes to the mind. Various layers of meaning on top of each other, where each item gives us specific sensations and we seem to expect it to ask us what we want from it and what we are. No separation between us and the item but the vicinity of different languages. Classic production with its complete forms strikes the eye and post-modern design production strikes the mind and they both strike the soul. What would happen if we put vision and mind together? Classic mixing with modern? It is no longer just a simple production of things but it is art. “We need chaos inside us to give birth to a dancing star”. (F. Nietzsche). Chaos like life, like a volcano that explodes with a myriad of lights. Volcano, the god of fire who created divine forms from nothing, and who could be the bride of someone who created beauty from nothing if not Venus, the most beautiful goddess on Mount Olympus? Creativity, chaos, continuity, past-present-future, ancient, modern, post-modern. They seem to be in conflict but they are not. It is All that finds its Unity, co-existence, living together, classic and modern. This is the real synthesis that is outside the norms and mental pigeonholes classifying everything in strict categories that others have decided for us.

Crystals with their play of light, sparkle like life itself that is brilliance and light. Which evoke past and future atmospheres with their different styles. Venetian, with a silence that is only broken by the waves breaking on the shore where time seems to stand still, futurist with their modern lines marked by rhythm, speed and change. Like the painting by René Magritte (La Condición humana) where he painted a window overlooking the courtyard, from the glass palazzo we overlook the ancient Venetian canals. No long beautiful but sublime.

La continuité dans la diversité. L'ancien et le postmoderne. Le beau à regarder avec les yeux, le moderne à comprendre avec l'esprit. Le figuratif, l'objet dans sa forme et le conceptuel d'infinis renvois à l'esprit et à l'inconscient. Une sorte de dialogue circulaire entre l'objet, les yeux et notre esprit. De différentes couches de signifié, l'une sur l'autre, par lesquelles l'objet nous donne des sensations et nous interrogeons presque l'objet pour qu'il nous dise ce que nous désirons, ce que nous sommes. Aucun détachement entre l'objet et nous, mais une proximité et une contiguité de langages différents. La production classique, avec ses formes complètes frappe notre pupille, la production postmoderne de design frappe notre esprit. Les deux frappent notre âme. Et si nous mettions ensemble la vision et l'esprit ? Le classique qui s'entrelace avec le moderne ? Ce n'est toutefois plus une simple production d'objets, mais de l'art. “Il faut avoir du chaos en soi pour enfanter une étoile qui danse”. (F. Nietzsche). Du chaos tel que la vie, tel que du magma volcanique qui explose en formes de lumière merveilleuses. Vulcain, dieu du feu qui créait des formes divines à partir du néant. Et qui pouvait épouser celui qui crée le beau à partir du néant si ce n'est Vénus, la plus belle déesse de l'Olympe ? Créativité, chaos, continuité, passé-présent-futur, ancien, moderne, post-moderne. Ils ont tous l'air de conflits, mais ils ne le sont pas. C'est le Tout qui trouve son Unité. Les styles classique et moderne qui coexistent, qui existent ensemble. Voilà la véritable synthèse, celle qui sort de la norme, des prisons mentales, du classement systématique au sein de normes rigides qui (d'autres) ont décidé pour nous. Les cristaux, avec leurs jeux de lumière, brillent comme la vie qui est brillance et lumière. Ils évoquent, dans leur différence de style, des atmosphères passées et futures. Des atmosphères vénitienes, d'un silence brisé uniquement par les vagues de la mer, où le temps semble s'être arrêté, aux atmosphères futuristes de la ligne moderne caractérisée par le rythme, la vitesse et le changement. Et presque comme dans le tableau de René Magritte (La Condición humana) (La Condition humaine), qui dessine sur la toile une fenêtre qui donne sur la cour, le palais de verre donne sur les anciens canaux vénitiens. Il ne s'agit plus du beau, mais du sublime.

Die Kontinuität in der Diversität. Das Antike und das Postmoderne. Das mit den Augen zu betrachtende Schöne, das mit dem Verstand zu erfassende Moderne. Das Figurative, der Gegenstand in seiner Form an sich, und das Begriffliche unzähliger Verweise im Geiste und im Unterbewussten. Eine Art kreisförmiger Dialog zwischen dem Gegenstand, den Augen und unserem Verstand. Zahlreiche sich überlagernde Bedeutungsschichten, in denen uns der Gegenstand Gefühle vermittelt, und wir den Gegenstand gleichsam ausfragen, um von ihm zu erfahren, was wir begehren und was wir sind. Keinerlei Distanz zwischen uns und dem Gegenstand, sondern Nähe und Nachbarschaft unterschiedlicher Sprachen. Die klassische Produktion mit ihren vollendeten Formen trifft unsere Pupille, die postmoderne Design-Produktion trifft unseren Verstand. Beide jedoch die Seele. Und wenn wir Vision und Verstand kombinieren würden? Das Klassische, das sich mit dem Modernen vereint? Dies ist jedoch nicht mehr eine einfache Anfertigung von Gegenständen, sondern Kunst. “Man muss noch Chaos in sich haben, um einen tanzenden Stern gebären zu können” (F. Nietzsche). Chaos als Leben, als vulkanisches Magma, das in erstaunlichen Lichtformen explodiert. Vulcanus, der Gott des Feuers, der aus dem Nichts göttliche Formen schuf. Und wer konnte den heiraten, der aus dem Nichts Schönheit entstehen ließ, als Venus, die schönste Göttin des Olympos? Kreativität, Chaos, Kontinuität, Vergangenheit-Gegenwart-Zukunft, Antikes, Modernes, Postmodernes. Sie erscheinen wie Konflikte, doch sind sie es nicht. Es ist das Ganze, das seine Einheit findet. Die Koexistenz, das gemeinsame Bestehen des klassischen Stils und des Modernen. Dies ist die echte Synthese, die Schemata sprengt und aus den geistigen Käfigen und dem Einfügen aller Dinge in strenge Schemata ausbricht, die (andere) für uns entschieden haben. Die Kristalle leuchten mit ihren Lichtspielen wie das Leben, das Glanz und Licht ist. Sie rufen in der Verschiedenheit ihrer Stile vergangene und zukünftige Atmosphären wach. Von den venezianischen, mit ihrer nur vom Brechen der Meereswellen unterbrochenen Stille, in denen die Zeit still zu stehen scheint, bis hin zu den futuristischen Atmosphären im modernen Stil, die von Rhythmus, Geschwindigkeit und Wandel geprägt sind. Und fast wie in dem Gemälde von René Magritte (Die Beschaffenheit des Menschen) (La Condición humana), in dem er ein Fenster auf die Leinwand malt, das auf den Hof geht, blicken wir aus dem Glaspalast auf die antiken Kanäle Venedigs. Nicht mehr das Schöne, sondern das Sublime.

La continuidad dentro de la diversidad. Lo antiguo y lo postmoderno. Lo bonito para mirarlo con los ojos, lo moderno para captarlo con la mente. Lo figurativo, el objeto en su forma en sí y lo conceptual de infinitos retornos en la mente y en el subconsciente. Una especie de diálogo circular entre el objeto, los ojos y nuestra mente. Varias capas de significado, una encima de otra, donde el objeto nos da sensaciones y nosotros prácticamente interrogamos al objeto para que nos diga lo que deseamos, lo que somos. Ningún desapego entre nosotros y el objeto, sino una aproximación y una contigüidad de lenguajes distintos. La producción clásica, con sus formas completas nos alumbró la pupila, la producción postmoderna de diseño nos alumbró la mente. Ambas el alma. Y ¿si juntásemos visión y mente? ¿Lo clásico que se entrelaza con lo moderno? Pero ya no se trata de una simple producción de objetos, sino de arte. “Hay que tener el caos dentro de uno mismo para concebir una estrella danzante”. (F. Nietzsche). Caos como vida, como magma volcánico que explota con formas de luz maravillosas. Volcán, dios del fuego que de la nada creaba formas divinas. Y ¿quién podía casar al que de la nada crea la belleza sino Venus, la diosa más bella del Olimpo? Creatividad, caos, continuidad, pasado-presente-futuro, antiguo, moderno, postmoderno. Todos parecen conflictos, pero no lo son. Es el Todo que encuentra su Unidad. El coexistir, el existir juntos, de estilo clásico y moderno. He aquí la auténtica síntesis, la que se sale de los esquemas, de las jaulas mentales, del encasillar todo dentro de rígidos esquemas que (otros) han decidido para nosotros. Los cristales, con sus juegos de luz, brillan como la vida que es brillo y luz. Evocan, en su diversidad de estilo, atmósferas pasadas y futuras. Las venecianas, de un silencio roto sólo del romperse de las olas del mar donde el tiempo parece haberse detenido, a las futuristas de la línea moderna caracterizada por ritmo, velocidad, cambio. Y prácticamente como en ese cuadro de René Magritte (La condición humana) donde dibuja sobre el lienzo una ventana que da al patio, del palacio de cristal nos asomamos a los antiguos canales venecianos. Ya no se trata de lo bello sino de lo sublime.

... la fantasia e immaginazione mette insieme e mescola gli oggetti sino a creare qualcosa che è al di là dello stesso concetto di classico e contemporaneo.

«Tutte le bocce di cristallo che avrai rotto, erano solo vita... non sono quelli gli errori... quella è vita... e la vita vera magari è proprio quella che si spacca... [...] e allora tu non smetterla mai di soffiare nelle tue sfere di cristallo.» (A. Baricco). È una linea produttiva di lampadari in stile "classico". Gocce, cristalli, riflessi, luce, bagliori, scintillio che incanta come in un sogno in cui non ci è nota situazione e persone, ma ci emoziona. Classico o antico? Entrambe le cose. Classico come lo intendeva la cultura della Grecia antica, cioè il bello come armonia e proporzione delle forme. Antico, come le atmosfere di tempi in cui tutto era esclusivo e unico al di fuori e al di là di una massificazione del tutto uguale. "Estremamente breve e travagliata è la vita di coloro che dimenticano il passato, trascurano il presente, temono il futuro." (Seneca). Inutile distinguere il passato dal presente e dal futuro. Lo si fa per comodità, giusto per capirci, ma le radici antiche sono oggi il presente. Il classico non è quello che si "usava una volta", ma nella sua armonia e completezza è la freschezza dell'oggetto che possiamo giocare in tutte le situazioni. Le gocce e le sfere di cristallo possono essere ospiti di un arredo antico in una dimensione di pura simmetria, oppure in un arredo contemporaneo proprio per rompere la simmetria delle linee di design. Il criterio non è il "classico" o il "contemporaneo", ma il modo in cui la fantasia e immaginazione mette insieme e mescola gli oggetti sino a creare qualcosa che è al di là dello stesso concetto di classico e contemporaneo. Ma il superamento degli schemi e la generazione del "nuovo" altro non è che intelligenza.

«All the crystal balls that you have broken were just life ... those are not errors ... that is life ... and perhaps real life is inside whatever we have broken... [...] so never stop blowing into your crystal balls.» (A. Baricco). This is a line of "classic" lamps. Drops, crystals, reflections, light, shine, sparkle that charm us like a dream where we do not know anybody or where we are, but it is exciting. Classic or ancient? Both. Classic as ancient Greek culture meant, where beauty was harmonious and proportional forms. Ancient, like those atmospheres when everything was exclusive and unique, well removed from mass production. "Life is extremely short and painful for those who forget the past, neglect the present and fear the future." (Seneca). It is pointless to separate the past from the present and future. We do it because it helps us understand, but ancient roots are still here and classic is not something we "used to use" but in its harmony and completeness it is the freshness of something that we can use in any situation. The crystal drops and balls are perfect in antique surroundings with their purely symmetrical furnishings or in modern settings because they break up the symmetry of the designed lines. The criterion is not "classic" or "modern" but the way our imagination puts everything together to create something that goes beyond the concept of classic and modern. In fact, overcoming the norms and generating something "new" is nothing more than intelligence itself.

«Toutes les boules de cristal que tu auras cassées n'étaient que vie... les erreurs, c'est autre chose... ça c'est la vie... et la vraie vie, c'est peut-être bien celle que l'on casse... [...] alors n'arrête jamais de souffler dans tes boules de cristal » (A. Baricco). C'est une ligne de production de lustres de style «classique». Des gouttes, des cristaux, des reflets, des lumières, des lueurs, un étincellement qui enchante comme un rêve dont nous ne connaissons ni la situation ni les personnes, mais qui nous émeut. Classique ou ancien? Les deux. Classique comme le concevait la culture de la Grèce antique, à savoir le beau en tant qu'harmonie et proportion des formes. Ancien, comme les atmosphères d'époques où tout était exclusif et unique au-dehors et au-delà d'une uniformisation complètement identique. "Mais quand les hommes oublient le passé, négligent le présent et craignent l'avenir, leur existence est extrêmement brève et troublée" (Seneca). Il est inutile de distinguer le passé du présent et du futur. On le fait par pratique, juste pour nous comprendre, mais les anciennes racines forment aujourd'hui le présent. Le classique ce n'est pas ce qu'on "utilisait autrefois", mais dans son harmonie et son unité, c'est la fraîcheur de l'objet que nous pouvons utiliser dans toutes les situations. Les gouttes et les sphères de cristal peuvent être insérées dans un ameublement ancien dans une dimension de pure symétrie, ou dans un ameublement contemporain pour interrompre la symétrie des lignes de design. Le critère n'est pas le "classique" ou le "contemporain", mais la façon dont la fantaisie et l'imagination mettent ensemble et mélangent les objets jusqu'à créer quelque chose qui va au-delà du concept même de classique et de contemporain. Mais le franchissement des normes et la génération du « nouveau » n'est autre qu'intelligence.

«Alle Kristallkugeln, die Du zerbrochen hast, waren nur Leben... nicht dies sind die Fehler... dies ist das Leben... und das echte Leben ist vielleicht gerade das, was zerbricht... [...] und deshalb darfst Du nie aufhören, in Deine Kristallkugeln zu blasen" (A. Baricco). Dies ist eine Produktionslinie für Lampen im "klassischen" Stil. Tropfen, Kristalle, Reflexe, Licht, Schimmer, Gefunkel, die uns wie in einem Traum verzaubern, in dem wir weder Situationen noch Personen kennen, der uns aber dennoch bewegt. Klassisch oder antik? Beides. Klassisch im Sinne der Kultur des antiken Griechenlands, das heißt das Schöne als Harmonie und Proportion der Formen. Antik wie die Atmosphären der Zeiten, in denen alles ausschließlich und einzigartig war, außerhalb und jenseits der Vermassung des "immer Gleichen". "Extrem kurz und mühselig ist das Leben derjenigen, die die Vergangenheit vergessen, die Gegenwart vernachlässigen und die Zukunft fürchten" (Seneca). Es ist sinnlos, die Vergangenheit von der Gegenwart und der Zukunft zu unterscheiden. Man tut dies – sagen wir mal – aus Bequemlichkeit, doch sind die Wurzeln von damals heute die Gegenwart. Das Klassische ist nicht das, was "einst gebräuchlich war", sondern in seiner Harmonie und Vollkommenheit ist es die Frische eines Gegenstandes, die wir in allen Situationen ausspielen können. Die Tropfen und Kugeln aus Kristall können Gäste einer antiken Einrichtung sein, in einer Dimension reiner Symmetrie, oder einer zeitgemäßen Einrichtung, um gerade diese Symmetrie der Designlinien zu sprengen. Das Kriterium ist nicht das "Klassische" oder das "Zeitgemäße", sondern die Art, wie Fantasie und Vorstellungskraft die Gegenstände zusammenstellen und mischen, bis sie etwas schaffen, das über eben dieses Konzept von klassisch und zeitgemäß hinaus geht. Doch das Überwinden der Schemata und das Schaffen von "Neuem" ist nichts anderes als Intelligenz.

«Todas las ampollas de cristal que puedas haber roto, eran sólo vida... eso no son errores... eso es vida... y la verdadera vida quizás es precisamente la que se rompe... [...] pues entonces tú no pares nunca de soplar en tus esferas de cristal.» (A. Baricco). Es una línea productiva de lámparas de estilo "clásico". Gotas, cristales, reflejos, luz, resplandores, centelleo que encanta como en un sueño en el que no conocemos situación y personas, pero que nos emociona. ¿Clásico o antiguo? Ambas cosas. Clásico según la cultura de la Grecia antigua, es decir lo bello como armonía y proporción de las formas. Antiguo como las atmósferas de tiempos en los que todo era exclusivo y único fuera y más allá de una masificación totalmente idéntica. "Extremamente breve y agitada es la vida de quienes olvidan el pasado, descuidan el presente y temen el futuro." (Seneca). Es inútil distinguir el pasado del presente y del futuro. Se hace por comodidad, para entendernos, pero las raíces antiguas son actualmente el presente. Lo clásico no es lo que se "usaba una vez", sino que en su armonía e integridad es la frescura del objeto que nos podemos jugar en cualquier situación. Las gotas y las esferas de cristal pueden ser huéspedes de una decoración antigua en una dimensión de pura simetría, o de una decoración contemporánea precisamente para romper la simetría de las líneas de diseño. El criterio no es el "clásico" o el "contemporáneo", sino el modo en que la fantasía y la imaginación une y mezcla los objetos hasta crear algo que está más allá del concepto de clásico y contemporáneo en sí. Pero la superación de los esquemas y la generación de lo "nuevo" no es más que inteligencia.
